We were happy to be in court only a short time Friday morning. Gabe did not show up, as he is in Erie, PA, and said he did not have a ride to the courthouse. He only called the judge this morning. The judge was gracious and gave him a continuance request. He is required to submit DNA testing to confirm if he is or is not the father of Nyzier and Nydrel. After those results, he can then schedule another custody hearing, which will be in the future. We are so thankful for the prayers of other saints. God comes through with His timing. Continue to pray for the journey and mission God has given us. Thank you. -Ed & Mary Stoltzfus
